[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 3.

EUROPE.

The German Parliament.

BERLIN, April 2.—In the Reichstag yesterday a bill for the union of Alsace and Lorraine with the German Empire was received and referred to a special committee.

Herr Talkinski moved that the Polish territory be not included in the German Empire. The motion was rejected.

Bismarck explained the policy of the Government towards France. He said it was the interest of Germany to have a republic in France. The Emperor had decided not to intervene unless the interests of Germany were endangered, when other action would be taken which would be effectual.

The Austrian Parliament.

VIENNA, April 2.—In the Reichsrath debate is in progress on army matters. There is a wide division of opinion on the proposition of the Government to raise fresh contingent recruits. The House yesterday rejected a motion to adjourn, and discussion will be resumed Monday.

News from Paris.

PARIS, April 2.—The Paris Journal Desbats reports a collision at the Bridge of Sevres with Ducrot's men, and adds that battalions of the Commune were on the alert last night, fearing an attack.

There are 10,000 men in Bois du Boulogne, and a large number are bivouacked in Champs Elysees.

The gates of Maillot, Antenuil and Point du Gour have been closed.

Mot D'Ordre says the sittings of the Commune will soon be public.

The same paper states that battalions provided with camping material marched out yesterday in the direction of Poissy.

The Commune desiring a conciliatory settlement of the question as to the maturity of bills, asked Workingmen's Societies and Chambers of Commerce to give their views on the subject. A conference was held yesterday with merchants, and the Commune decided to accept the proposition for partial payments without prejudicing the question of the ultimate liability for the whole amount of such bills.

The Official Journal declares the object of the revolution is to guarantee the perpetuity of the Republic by laying the foundation broad, deep and immovable.

Bismarck "Gives Notice" to Thiers.

LONDON, April 2.—Bismarck informed Thiers that unless the indemnity is paid before the 16th inst., 80,000 Germans will enter Paris and suppress the revolution, and will remain until the money is all paid.

A Collision Imminent in Paris.

LONDON, April 2.—All the gates of Paris have been reopened except that of Passy. The outposts of the army of Versailles on the Avenue du Neuilly, have been pushed within a hundred yards of the ramparts. An attack is expected from that quarter. A considerable force is also concentrated on the heights of Chantillion.

The Versailles Government is constantly receiving reinforcement troops, and fresh camps are established as they arrive. The army now under its control in the vicinity of Versailles consists of 8 divisions of infantry and three of cavalry. All unreliable troops have been sent home.

LATER—5:30 P. M.—The Commune of Paris has ordered elections in all arrondissements on the 5th inst., to fill vacancies occasioned by the resignation of sixteen of its members.

Decrees have been issued by the Commune to suppress the title and functions of Commander-in-Chief, to [illegible] Quartermaster-Generals, Minister Bergeret Chief of Staff, and Dural Military Commander and Prefect of Police.

The re-organization of Detroit and the completion of the public buildings is contemplated.

Circulation in and about Paris is free to all unarmed persons.

The rumor of fighting yesterday was false.

LONDON, April 2—3:30 A. M.—The Mot D'Ordre has an article signed by Henri Rochefort, summoning the Committee to retire and not provoke a contest with the Commune.

Edward Roverey writes to the Rappel that he proposed to the Assembly to recognize what had been done in Paris and to adopt an electoral law to convoke the Constituent Assembly and then to dissolve all to prevent civil war.

The Siecle demands the abolition of Prefectures and a reduction of the number of Departments.

Paris is quiet, but the exodus of the inhabitants continues.

Versailles is crowded to overflowing. Lodgings are only to be had at fabulous prices.

VERSAILLES, April 1.—The Government has charged Gen. Clinchamps with the organization of troops.

Gen. Charette holds Nantes.

A movement is on foot to disarm and disband all battalions of Nationals which do not recognize the authority of the Committee. The Credu People demands that this proposition be speedily carried into effect in the second arrondisment.

The Social, a new evening paper, proposes the abolition of inheritance of property, and the Cri du People approves it.

Thiers telegraphs to Prefects of Departments that Lyons, St. Etienne, LeCreuzot, Toulouse and Perpignan are quiet.

Senitez with 900 men defeated the insurgents at Narbonne and captured their leaders.

Marseilles has recognized the regular Government.

The Commune in Paris is divided, agitated and powerless.

The Assembly is sitting tranquilly at Versailles surrounded by the best army France ever had.

The Insurgents Losing Ground.

LONDON, April 2.—The following is just received from Versailles:

Several thousand National Guards occupying Puteaux Courbevoie and bridge of Neuilly have been routed by the troops who carried the barricades, and the defenders fled into the city. The moral effect is excellent.

The Paris Committee intend to issue assignments to meet their immediate necessities. The party of order still hold possession of the Bank of France. The bank, however, to save itself from being plundered has advanced three million francs to the insurgents. Organization and equipment of marching battalions in Paris is rapidly going on. The army of Versailles has occupied St. Cloud and the line of the Seine.

WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Treasury will sell during April eight millions in gold and purchase ten millions of bonds.

Shellabarger will endeavor to close the debate in the House on the Ku-Klux bill tomorrow, although he will allow time for offering and discussing amendments. It is generally believed that the bill will pass the House in its present form.

The story relative to the Alabama College scrip and Senator Wagner's connection therewith, is declared by the Government to be false and malicious; that so far from collusion with Gov. Smith to depreciate the scrip for personal advantage, he introduced a bill in the Legislature, taking the control of the scrip out of the hands of the Governor in order to protect it from depreciation by artificial pressure.

A QUAKER IN AN EPISCOPAL PULPIT.—It is not often that an Episcopal minister asks a Quaker to preach in his pulpit, but the Rev. Dr. Cooper, rector of the Episcopal church in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, on a recent Sunday, after morning prayer, did so, saying, "My honored friend Joseph A. Dugdale is in the house, and I shall now conclude our service and invite him to this place, where he will conduct the service according to the usages of the Religious Society of Friends, a body of people for whom I have always had the greatest respect." The Quaker preacher thus invited came forward and made an impressive address, in which he urged greater unity among Christians, a deeper devotion to truth, love and justice. Dr. Cooper himself then made an appeal in favor of the broadest liberality and the utmost toleration among Christian denominations, and thus closed a remarkable and somewhat interesting meeting.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EUROPE.

Fighting in Paris.

NEW YORK, April 3.—A special Paris correspondent telegraphs Sunday evening: A serious engagement took place this morning between the Government troops and Communists. Two thousand National Guards marched on the Courtes and were met by gens d'armes and Guardes Forestiers. A captain of the latter galloped up, intending to address the Communists, when a Zouave shot him dead. A general action followed. The gens d'armes took five prisoners who who were shot immediately. The guns of Fort Valerian swept the road when the Communists fled. There were 200 insurgents killed and many wounded.

The Nationals still hold Port Maillat. Battalions of artillery are hurrying up. The "rappel" is beating, and ramparts are being manned. The greatest excitement prevails.

A correspondent telegraphed from Versailles on the evening of the 2d: The crisis is at hand. Two batteries are in motion on the Paris road, and ambulances are ready.

Bismarck has given permission for any number of troops to be massed near Paris, and says if order is not restored in Paris by the 15th inst., the Germans will enter. This is reliable.

Further Accounts of the Fighting.

LONDON, April 3.—The Times' special says the fighting at Courtevoir was sharp. Reports as to who fired the first shot are conflicting. The Nationals were at first driven into Courtevoir, where they maintained themselves some time, protected by houses. At last they were shelled out by Fort Valerien and fell back to the bridge at Neuilly, where they kept up a hot fusilade. From this position they were again forced to retire, and finally withdrew into the city and shut the gates.

The Government troops did not attempt to follow. Estimated loss of Nationals, 200.

Popular indignation against the Versailles Government is terrific.

The Nationals threaten to attack Versailles.

Later from Paris.

PARIS, April 3.—Hreaking.—Fighting has been going on since yesterday morning at various points.

In the Place De la Concorde this morning cannonading in the direction of Neuilly was distinctly heard.

The fortress of Mont Valerion opened upon columns of the Nationals which were marching on Courtevi, and kept up a continuous fire several hours to prevent them from establishing themselves in position there. The Nationals were finally compelled to retreat with a considerable degree of loss.

Dispatch from Berlin.

BERLIN, April 3.—The Emperor William, replying to a congratulatory address voted by the Reichstag, thanks that body for loyalty and devotion.

McMahon Commanding at Versailles.

VERSAILLES, April 3.—McMahon has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Government forces.

PARIS, April 3.—The Commune has issued a proclamation, saying: "We have been attacked by the Versailles Government. We have a mission to protect the city, and count upon the aid of citizens."

There was a continual movement among the Communes forces during the night.

A distant cannonade was distinctly audible this morning.

The Rappel is beaten everywhere.

Other Dispatches.

BRUSSELS, April 3.—The second sitting of the Peace Conference was held to-day.

FLORENCE, April 3.—The Chambers have adjourned till the 12th.

BUCHAREST, April 3.—The Roumanian Prince adjourns his abdication till the result of elections is known.

EASTERN STATES.

Connecticut Election.

HARTFORD, April 3.—It is impossible at present to give an accurate estimate of the result of the election to-day. The total vote may reach 97,000 to 98,000. It is likely not to fall below these figures. The State is very close and both sides are confident. In Waterbury, Kendrick (Dem.) for Congress is running behind his ticket. The Democrats concede the election of Strong (Rep.) in the district. There will be a handsome Republican gain in New Britain.

Manly and Wise Declarations by the President.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The following dispatches are received here by ex Governor Hawley, of Connecticut, from Washington: The President will accompany the transmission of the San Domingo Commissioners' report to Congress next week with a message, in which he says in substance that had the subject received fair treatment when the last treaty was rejected, he would not have asked further consideration. He desired full investigation at the hands of Congress, which has been had with results vindicating the correctness of his public policy and disavowing the charges of improper action in the investigation. He does not ask for action now but transmits the report for the information of Congress and the country, still adhering to his position of the advisability of annexation, but with no further recommendation to make, being confident that if the country desires the object to be accomplished Congress, in the exercise of its constitutional duty, will indicate that desire by advising the consummation of the treaty. He does not by any means abandon his own views, but leaves the responsibility of future action upon Congress, and repeats his original declaration that he has no policy to enforce against the will of the people.

CANADA.

The Dominion Parliament.

OTTOWA, April 3.—Hon. Tupper, during the debate on the subject of the annexation of British Columbia, on Saturday, argued that the superiority of the Canadian route for a Pacific railroad was indisputable, and that the alternate blocks of land which would be the property of the Government, would realize enough to discharge its pecuniary obligations respecting railways. He expressed the belief that the Northern Pacific Company, who would have nearly 1,000 miles of desert to run through, Canada was determined to push her road and go on with the work beyond Pembina. They would extend their line from Georgetown to Pembina, and thence to the Red River, but it could never, he thought, be carried further west in view of the far superior prospects of our route.

CALIFORNIA.

Earthquake in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Accounts from all parts of the country in the vicinity of the Bay, as far south as Santa Cruz, and north to Marysville, show that shocks of earthquake were felt at 12½ to 10 minutes before 8 o'clock last evening, distinctly, with about equal force at all points, though if anything heavier at Oakland and vicinity than here. A very slight shock just before 11 o'clock was noticed by only a few persons. It was just one year to a day since anything in the line had been felt in San Francisco.

Weather warm, with a very slight southeast wind. Been cloudy all day. Slight sprinkle of rain at six o'clock, with some show of more to night.

The steamer Salinas, which has been impounded in Salinas river by a bar formed at the mouth by the great storm in February, has been released—at last she reached here today.

The ship Young America sailed for New York to day.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The trial of Ike Brokaw, for the murder of Robert Evans, was continued in the 15th District Court until Monday next, the Fair trial being likely to last the greater part of this week.

The removal of Ackerson as Chief Engineer of the Fire Department will pretty certainly be effected to-morrow, and David Scannell appointed in his stead.

The testimony of Drs. Dyford and Trask in the Fair case given this morning was very strong indeed for the defence, and unless rebutted will go far to secure an acquittal on the ground of insanity. Dr. Dyford was attending physician to Mrs. Fair before the shooting, and for some time there after, and Dr. Trask succeeded him on his leaving for the East. They agree very fully as to her being thoroughly insane at regular intervals for a year or more. The effort to have the letters read to the jury by Dr. Dyford as a medical expert, did not succeed, the court holding that it was only an indirect way of introducing to the jury what had been ruled out previously by the court.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

GILROY, April 3.—Mr. Rogers, sixty miles southeast of here on the San Benito river, has discovered a ledge of tin twelve feet wide, near his place. The ledge is very rich. He has taken some of the ore to San Francisco to have it assayed.

A slight shock of an earthquake was felt here about 8 o'clock P. M., yesterday.

STOCKTON, April 3.—The colored citizens of this place celebrated the passage of the Fifteenth Amendment to-day.

The San Joaquin Water Co. incorporated today; capital, $200,000. They propose to bring water from the Mokelumne river, at a point near Camanche, down the valley to the eastern line of this city. The canal will be thirty feet wide at the bottom, and forty at the top, and eight feet deep.

The Democrats are holding meetings to-night in each ward, nominating Aldermen.

The Sumner Matter.

The following is from the Washington correspondence of the New York Times:

The Administration is entitled to have its measures fairly presented to the Senate and the country, and to that end it is entitled to have in the Chairman of that Committee a man whose ability and sympathies will enable it to so frame its measures of foreign [illegible] that the assent of the requisite two-thirds may be secured. At any moment it may become imperative, as it has become [illegible] tive heretofore, for the Secretary of

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 4, 1871

"Usurpation of the War Power"

An examination of Senator Sumner's latest arraignment of the Administration on the San Domingo question shows that the Senator has changed his base and attempted a new mode of attack In his first diatribe he accused President Grant of being connected with disgraceful jobbery for gainful purposes in the negotiation. But he is now compelled to drop that system of attack, and he comes with the charge that the President has "usurped war powers" in dealing with the matter, that he has threatened and menaced the neighboring country of Hayti that he guaranteed the Dominican Republic protection from Haytien interposition to defeat annexation, that he sent war vessels there, in order to make an overwhelming display of force, so as to hold Hayti in check and that he has to all intents and purposes made war on that country in violation of our Constitution Such is the arraignment, and such is the basis of the fourteen column speech delivered last week and telegraphed to all parts of the country.

All this and more might be granted, and yet it would be nothing when compared with the action of President Polk in dealing with Mexico It should be known that Hayti makes an unfounded claim to a portion of the Dominican territory, and therefore attempts to prevent the acquisition of Dominica by the United States Let it be conceded that President Grant did order several war vessels to those waters to make a display of force to prevent Hayti from interfering during the pendency of the negotiation, and then compare the act with what was done by President Polk in relation to the dispute between Texas and Mexico. It will be seen from the comparison that the act which Sumner makes such a noise about, even granting that all he asserts is true, dwindles into insignificance.

The large extent of territory lying between the Rio Nueces and the Rio Grande was in dispute between Texas and Mexico It had revolted from the latter, but she had never relinquished her title to it By the law of nations and in point of fact it was Mexican territory In July, 1845, Texas was annexed to the United States Immediately after this event President Polk sent a military force to take possession of the disputed territory The act was an act of war, and it was well understood that Mexico would necessarily so consider it. In December following the President sent his message to Congress, in which he stated that he had "deemed it proper, as a precautionary measure, to order a strong squadron to the Gulf of Mexico, and to concentrate a sufficient military force on the western frontier of Texas" It was intended by these acts to bully and intimidate Mexico By command of the President the troops under Gen. Taylor advanced to the left bank of the Rio Grande, then and always in possession of Mexico, erected works on the bank of the river and pointed cannon at the town of Matamoras on the opposite side, the seat of a Mexican population. All these warlike measures were taken by the President without authority of Congress Of course they speedily resulted in actual war There are men now in Congress who were in that body then, and saw President Polk bring on the conflict with Mexico Garrett Davis of Kentucky, then a member of the House of Representatives, said "it was our own President who began this war. He had been carrying it on for months in a series of acts. Congress, which was vested with the sole power to make war, he had not deigned to consult, or to ask for authority."

How trifling, indeed, are the facts to support the arraignment of President Grant on the ludicrous charge of "making war on Hayti," compared with the facts on which President Polk was charged with bringing on a great war with Mexico! President Grant has precipitated no conflict with Hayti, he has not caused the occupation by the United States forces of any territory claimed by her; he has not planted cannon against her towns, nor menaced her in any way The most that could be alleged,—and it is all that Sumner alleges,—is that he caused notice to be given to Hayti that he would not permit the negotiation with San Domingo to be interfered with If this is a "usurpation of the war power" and a "violation of the Constitution," what is to be said of the action of President Polk, which the country approved and commended?

"When a man," says the New York Times, is blessed with an unquenchable temper and a quick tongue, he generally manages to do injustice to everybody round him, and then to exhibit himself as a poor, ill used, persecuted creature, 'struck down' by a President or some other agent of the wicked one. The public have seen several instances of this kind lately A man goes about cracking heads wherever he can see one, like the Irishman at Donnybrook Fair, and then when he gets a rap himself calls Heaven and earth to witness that he is the most amiable, good natured, down-trodden mortal in existence, and never did anything but his duty, and is the victim of a base conspiracy" This is said in reference to Sumner and it is very well said, indeed.

An eminent economical writer once denied the common postulate that "the source of wealth is labor" He would state it thus—"The source of wealth is machinery." This is not merely a "smart" observation, made for the sake of handsomely turning a maxim, it is an observation founded on truth and experience, and is daily approaching nearer and nearer to a practical and general realization Industrial progress depends almost wholly on machinery, augments production, and makes possible otherwise impossible things

On the 17th March a bill to grant R H Lamson of Oregon leave to withdraw his resignation as a Lieutenant in the Navy, with a recommendation that he be restored to his former position, passed Congress. Lieut Lamson is now in Yamhill county, and will probably return to duty in a few months

Mississippi is a healthy State for Mayors Mayor Crane of Jackson, was shot by a murderer who goes unpunished Mayor Sturgis of Meridian was expelled because he happened to be born in the North And now Mayor Lacy of Aberdeen, has been abducted by Ku-Klux, probably because he was once an officer of the United States Army Let there are men in Congress who wish to spend a few months in inquiring whether loyal men at the South really need protection

Six "colored" gentlemen have been sworn in as members of the present House of Representatives, and we have not heard of a single Democrat resigning, or even threatening to resign Ten years ago it would have been treason to chivalry to have predicted the present condition of affairs. A Congressional career hath charms to sooth the savage breast

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP

Judge Otto, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, resigned on the 24th March

A scene for a painter was that in the Senate Chamber—Sumner patting Pendleton on the back, and then throwing his arm over his shoulder, leading him lovingly to a seat next his own and entering into a pleasant, confidential tete a tete

A letter from Washington says The secret of the Republican defeat in New Hampshire comes to the surface here in the fact that certain well known Republicans of that State resident here a part of the time, were so well convinced that a defeat could not be avoided at this time, that they abandoned their heretofore uniform practice of going home some weeks prior to the election and participating in the canvass. They did this because they felt morally certain that the dissensions which have been brewing in that State for several years past could only be cured by a defeat of the party at the polls, and it was better that it should occur this spring than wait a year longer There gentlemen repudiate the idea that the Sumner matter had any appreciable influence in the election New Hampshire Republicans are not of the kind to cut the throats of their own candidates on such provocation as that.

CURRENT NOTES

The total number of Scandinavians in the United States is estimated, at the close of 1870, at 400,000, of which about 30,000 are residents of Chicago

It is noted as a singular fact that Hon. James G Blaine and Gen. George W. Morgan, the rival candidates for Speaker of the present House, are both natives of the town of Washington, Pennsylvania

A Madrid letter declares that King Amadeus is already weary of his royal honors, and that it is not improbable he will soon resign the crown of Spain, having discovered he can depend on no body either for advice or friendship

Says the New York Tribune Tammany must show to the country, from her government of New York, an example which will be good for the government of the United States, or she must prepare to keep in the background in the Democratic National Convention. Otherwise, in contrast with the lavish imperial expenditures of Tammany, the retrenchments of General Grant will stand out in luminous and glorious relief before the American people.

The Chicago woman suffragists, at their convention recently, resolved "that man's headship in the State, the church and the home, is an exploded idea of the dead past, opposed to a Republican Government and Protestant religion," and that women have a right to vote without further amendment of the Constitution. They propose to register and offer their votes at the next Presidential election, and if their ballots are refused they say they will carry the matter into the Courts.

Balance of Power —Two of our foreign-born citizens says a San Francisco paper,—one German and the other Irish—met last Saturday evening in a lager beer saloon, where the following dialogue ensued

Pat—"I say, Hans, (winking at by-standers) what do you think of our St Patrick's Celebration? There are some 'ould sod boys in Frisco, I dunno, eh! It's an e-lement that men who want office can't sneeze at, ha?"

Hans—"Oh yaw! But, Pat, bemge a vard politician, what you dink of dem Sherman procession on der last Wednesday, mooch Shermans in dis town, eh Pat?"

Pat—"Be dad, if ye'd been Irishmen ye'd have made yer presince felt before this Bad 'cess to these Yankees, to be sure th'ave the foreign e-liment down now entirely The Irish are a power, and so are the Doochers, but troth the Yankee howlds the balance of power now; and than to secure his vote we will have to be after giving him some of the offices Bad luck to him, but we might as well be in 'ould Ireland as to enjoy these curtailed privileges as freemen, so we might" (Exit Pat in a hurry, followed by a roar of laughter from several native borns)

Hans—"Paltance of bower, vosh ish dat what he vants Oh, no, mine eer, dey little bellance ve vill take mit der nestle-goon, ve have united Shermany and ve vill help to unite dis country Oh, no, how high ish dat?" [Loud laughter, during which Hans drank up his beer and left.]

Curiosities of Dreaming —Dr. Darwin was of the opinion that if a deaf person dreamed of hearing, the internal parts essential to the functions, were unimpaired The same remark, says Dr Smith, of Boston, is applicable to the blind "I have invariably found that the incurably blind never dream of seeing or hearing

A gentleman who has seen it thus describes the Tennessee panther "When it switches its tail from side to side, and flashes fire outen its big yallar eyes, it 'peered to seem as if it was streekedly spotted like by turns; but when it got sorter more gentler than it 'peered to seem of a dove colored brown,"

Cheap water Pipe.

"THE ASPHALTUM PRESSURE PIPE COMPAny," of San Francisco, having purchased of the patentee the sole right to manufacture on this coast, are now making an article at their works, at Alameda Point that will supply the general want of a cheap and durable water pipe The invention originated in France, where these pipes are extensively used, as well as in Germany in fact all over Europe, almost entirely supplanting for all ordinary purposes the use of iron It is no new thing, having been in use twenty years

Its Durability.

Being imperishable and insensible to atmospheric influences or chemical properties of the earth, it never changes, and is consequently much more durable than iron, which corrodes, and in time leaks.

It is a Non-Conductor,

And will not freeze except at a remarkably low temperature, and even then its expansive power is greater than that of frozen water In warm weather it acts as a cooler for water passing through it.

Neutrality to Acids and Alkalis.

This pipe is not affected by acids and alkalis, nor is it affected by galvanic currents—consequently is invaluable in conducting telegraph wires under ground through tunnels and under bridges

Elasticity.

The elasticity of this pipe prevents its bursting from outward shocks or concussions The interior of the pipe being glazed are as smooth as porcelain, and consequently are never clogged by adhering sediment

Lightness

The mean weight of these pipes to iron is as one to five; which not only facilitates handling, but reduces the cost of transportation

Laying the Pipe

Is a simple matter—can be laid by any laboring man of ordinary intelligence but the Company, if required will always furnish a competent person free of expense, to oversee the proper laying of the pipe Contracts taken for any required length of pipe from water or mining companies, and warranted to stand accordingly to contract

Pipe Under Pressure

Can be seen at the office of the Company We are the only parties manufacturing this pipe on the Pacific Coast under this patent All other offered is spurious and an infringement

Cheapness.

The cost when laid including connections, is about one quarter that of lead and one half that of iron

We manufacture this pipe in lengths of twelve feet, and ship it everywhere, by all sorts of conveyance—no special care being required We manufacture it of any size from one to twelve inches.

Pressure.

We manufacture according to the pressure required from 1 to 600 pounds to the inch, and guarantee it to stand the pressure

Prices

CITY.

An Immense Work —Those who have not noticed, as many a man has at the railroad work done in digging down the bank at Clinton Point to make room for the railroad engine house turn table etc will have to wonder again and again before the completed excavation we shall be compelled to dig to the grade of the Railroad Company the bank as to be turn down to the present track the depot floor and wharf for a distance of 100 to 250 feet from the present line of bluff which work in magnitude is quite beyond anything ever done in this country There is no thing of removal of this dirt alone at the usual rate paid for grading will amount to over $ Besides this the present wharf and depot are only mere circumstances to what they will be when completed according to the plans of the company The wharf, which is now but a few feet wide of the kind on the Pacific coast will be twice as long, and the depot so enlarged as to will appear an infant shanty near it The one to be erected when the above work have been completed The people of Portland and Oregon have scarcely yet begun to realize the stupendous magnitude of the work which are being carried forward by the Oregon & California Railroad Co When we consider the sums of hard coin proportioned to the magnitude of these and other railroad work have been under of these and other railroad work have been and are now being paid out by this company, we never will no longer a wonder that money is easier and all business prospects more brighter than they were one or two years ago

Coming Coming —Letters were shown us yesterday by Messrs Russell, Ferry and Woodward from partner in Iowa and Missouri will receive the receipt of real estate papers and letters concerning Oregon and state the time when the writers live there they are preparing to start for Oregon writes from Warrensburg, Johnson county, that section Another writes from Pleasant Hill Johnson county, same State that colony will start from that neighborhood spring for Oregon or Washington Territory This writer speaks of Capt F C McClure of Oregon City who had given them much information that a car load of emigrants will start at the present month for Oregon from Newton Iowa Messrs. Stitzel & Upton received a letter yesterday from the same place from gentlemen who was here It seems He says that a number of people will start on the a car and will start on the In these letters, probably company of emigrants Similar received almost every day from the western and middle States rate letter from Wisconsin we learned recently awakened the great interest to Oregon The indications all over that the people are coming and coming strong

The cost ...removal of this dirt alone, at the usual prices ...of grading, will amount to over $100,000. ...Added to this, the present wharf and depot building ...will be covered when the excavating ...is completed. The people of Port... ...have scarcely yet begun to real... ...magnitude of the works which ...forward by the Oregon & Cali... ...Railroad Co. When we consider that ...sum of hard coin proportioned to the magnitude ...of these and other railroad works have been ...and are now being paid out by this company in ...Portland, it is no longer a wonder that "money ...is easier," and all business prospects so much ...brighter than they were one or two years ago.

Coming, Coming.—Letters were shown us yesterday, by Messrs. Russell, Ferry and Woodward, real estate brokers in Iowa and Missouri, who acknowledge the receipt of real estate papers and circulars concerning Oregon, and state that in the sections where the writers live, there are many who are preparing to start for Oregon. One person from Warrensburg, Johnson county, Mo., has about twelve families will come out from that section. Another writes from Knob Noster, Johnson county, same State, that quite a little colony will start from that neighborhood this spring for Oregon or Washington Territory. ...ers of Capt. F. O. McCown of ...Oregon City, who had given them much information about the country. Another writer states that a car load of emigrants will start on the 15th ...month for Oregon, from Newton, Iowa. ...Stitzel & Upton received a letter ...from the same place, from a ...who was here in January last. ...that a number of people have chartered ...and will start on the 15th for this State. ...letters, probably refer to the same ...emigrants. Similar letters are being ...almost every day from various parts of ...and middle States. We have a pri... ...letter from Wisconsin which speaks of the ...recently awakened there in regard ...The indications all round are that ...people are coming, and coming strong.

Arrival of the "Amelia."—The barkentine ..., Capt. C. E. Foye, which arrived Saturday night, brought the following cargo: To W ... ..., 1 piano; Portland Drayage & Hauling Co., 1 piano, 43 cases oils and drugs and 7 cases ...; Knapp, Burrell & Co, 594 pkgs agricultural goods, machinery and wagons; Geo L Story, ... pkgs glass, oils, lard, turpentine; M S Burrell 1 piano; K L & Co, 8 pkgs turpentine; ... & Manley, 1,823 pkgs groceries, etc; W ... 10 cases brooms; A & L, 5 mdse; G R Burrell 5 mdse, R H & H S, 10 mdse; Hawley, ... & Co, 42 pkgs agricultural goods and hardware; W J & Co, 7 mdse; Hodge & Calef, 96 pkgs oil and, putty, paint; ... Dress Ball.—The fourth annual ball of Columbia Grove, U. A. O. D., will take place at ... Hall this evening. The managers ... up the ball in such a manner, with ... as to make it look like a veritable ... To-night the bows will be hung ... birds, and festoons, with the bouquets ... The walls are already tastefully ... decorated. Over and back of the ... a blue canopy is stretched on ... painted the moon and stars, to make a ... indoor, moonlight view. Altogether, ... will prove to-night, not only a brilliant ... but an unique arrangement, and ... Who to visit it, even if persons do ... not want to join in the dance.

Still Another Special Premium.—Messrs. ... & Co., of this city, offer special ... to boys receiving the premiums from ... on Class VI.—i. e., "plowing ... with walking plows"—conditioned on there ... at least four entries for each premium competed for, as follows: Boys over sixteen and ... eighteen, one of the Moline Plow Co.'s late ... "Champion" plows, with high landside and standing cutter. Boys under fourteen, ... "Champion" Moline plow, with low landside. ... plows are to be the latest make, extra ... steel, and to have extra braces and ... improvements recently adopted, and ... only on the "Champion" Moline plows ... by Knapp, Burrell & Co.

School Meeting.—The annual school meeting ... No. 1, of this county, was held at the ... School House. Mr. A. P. Dennison was ... Director for three years and Dr. J. A. ... for one year. R. J. Ladd was elected ... for the ensuing school year. The whole ... in Clerk 228, of which Ladd received 141, ... E. Holly 87. The Directors were elected ... votes each to 80 for their highest opponent ... Long.

Passage Back.—The steamboat officers ... That the travel between Portland and ... continues to be quite considerable. We ... ——, yesterday, what all these ... are for; and he replied that no ... be know, they simply go down, look around ... feeling themselves stuck fast to a good ... by next day, they come back again. And ... the case at of travel flows down and back.

Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake R. R.—The ... of the last meeting of incorporators of ... Portland, Dallas and Salt Lake R. R. Co. has ... the following persons as a committee ... Residence: A. P. Dennison, C. M. ..., Chas. Holman, M. S. Burrell, E. D. ... and the following persons as a com... ... Finance: Jacob Stitzel, Jas. B. Steel, ... Corbett.

Various Cards.—Mr. W. S. James, of the National Business College, has presented us some ... of his various styles of visiting cards, ... with a pen and very neat and tasteful. ... and he is prepared to do this sort of ... to order.

Summer Clothes.—Merchants brought out their stocks of linen coats and other warm ... "tackle" yesterday and hung them on ... "foster walls." The climate was nearly ... enough, too, to make such things look ...

Representatives to the Grand Lodge.—Orient Lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F., of East Portland, has elected Messrs. John Kenworthy, John Dolan and P. Kelly, Representatives to the Grand Lodge, which is to meet at this city in May.

Locks at the Wallamet Falls.—It is stated that the engineer who is to superintend the construction of the locks and canal at the Wallamet Falls, arrived by the last steamer, and that the work will be commenced soon.

Ladies Relief Society.—The Ladies Relief Society will meet at the usual place to-day, at half past two o'clock. As it is the annual meeting, a large attendance is desired.

Sailed.—The bark Almatia, with a heavy cargo of produce, sailed for San Francisco at noon yesterday. The Okanagon took her in tow down the river.

Unloading.—The barkentine Amelia was hauled up yesterday to Moffett & Stephens' wharf, where she commenced to discharge cargo.

Daily Boats.—We hear that daily boats will soon be running on the route between Portland and Astoria and other lower river points.

City Bonds.—The Committee of Ways and Means of the Common Council have advertised for sale $58,500 of city bonds.

SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1.

Portland, April 3, 1871.

To the voters of School District No. 1: The Directors respectfully report to the Annual Meeting as follows:

There are at present 19 teachers employed in the outside schools, at salaries of $600 to $1,500 per annum. The schools have all been in operation during the year, except that upon the ...eadamized road, which has been in operation only about 9 months.

The district needs more grounds for school buildings, and more school houses.

There should be additional accommodations provided for at least 400 pupils, requiring two buildings.

A block of lots in Caruthers' Addition is offered to the district for the sum of $6,000.

The policy of continuing the colored school as a separate institution is submitted to the consideration of the voters.

The funds voted last year were found totally insufficient for the construction of any buildings.

The account of moneys controlled by the present Board is as follows:

Cash subject to order of Directors:—
From Clerk and Board retiring April, 1870 (coin)	$ 5,159 50
From Clerk and Board retiring April, 1870 (currency)	440 39
From taxes collected by present Clerk (coin)	10,169 98
From County Treasurer (coin)	9,540 72
From County Treasurer (currency)	670 71
Total	$25,987 80
Orders drawn by this Board, old series and new	$17,374 02
Balance subject to future draft	$ 8,499 02

For the amounts applied to payment of teachers' salaries and other items of expenditure we refer to the Clerk's report.

The Directors estimate the demand for the coming year as follows:

Teachers' salaries	$16,800 00
Janitor's wages	1,000 00
Wood	500 00
Streets	1,000 00
Repairs and painting	1,000 00
Rent for colored school	200 00
Furniture	900 00
Incidental expenses	2,000 00
Total	$22,800 00
For building to be built and furnishing the same	40,000
Purchase of block, say	9,000 $12,000 00
Total	$34,800 00

Respectfully submitted,

E. D. SHATTUCK,
J. N. DOLPH,
Directors.

A Crusade Difficulty.—There was a high old excitement around at the Chinese Josh House about half pastnine o'clock last evening. There were outcries, blowing of whistles, and a general rush of Celestials, Caucasians and Policemen. A Chinese row is not the most easily disentangled jumble in the world, and it is not always that the outside world is enlightened as to the facts in the case. This particular row, after being sifted down, seemed to have occurred through the efforts of a converted heathen to break up the practice of bowing down to wood and stone. A lot of unconverted heathen had a meeting of some sort, and in the midst of their pow-wow and paeans to Josh the converted fellow came in, and with oaths and gesticulations declared his adhesion to the Melican Gods and denounced the Celestial Josh for a humbug and bilk. This raised a general cry of "Hi Yah! Ah Wah!" which, translated, is "Put him out." The converted fellow then tried to smash Josh's mug with a stool, and at that the whole Flowery Kingdom went for him—and that's what raised the row. In the confusion the offending crusader escaped the vigilance of both the outraged Celestials and the Police. He ran away and lives to fight another day.

Thanks.—The lady for whom the proprietors of the New York Hotel, Messrs. Rothfus & Wilkens, kindly solicited subscriptions to the amount of $60 for the relief of her sick husband and her destitute children, returns her heartfelt thanks to them and the contributors, and trusts that, should they ever need friends, they will fall among as good people as they have proved themselves to be.

Amusements.

East Lynne To-Night.—This evening the popular drama of East Lynne will be enacted. Mrs. Bates in her great dual character of Lady Isabel Carlyle and Madame Vine—one of her very best personations. Mr. Bates will play Archibald Carlyle; Miss Anna Pixley, Barbara Hare; Miss Cummings, Richard Hare; Miss Minnie Pixley, Camelia Carlyle.

Odd Fino Theater.—Miss Annie Pixley's benefit last evening drew out a very good audience. The very pretty domestic drama of "Meg's Diversion" was presented quite handsomely, with the beneficiary in the character of Meg, which she rendered cleverly. Mr. Bates personated her rustic lover, Jasper Pidgeon, in capital style, and Mr. Vinson was old man Jeremy Crow himself. Miss Ingles did the walking gentleman, Ashley Merton, very well indeed. The other characters were from tolerable to fair. The melange was presented with fine spirit by the Misses Pixley, and they got encores for each performance.

Benefit Tendered to Mr. Vinson.—A long list of names who have tendered Mr. J. H. Vinson a complimentary benefit, appears in another column, together with Mr. Vinson's reply to the correspondence. The benefit will take place Thursday night, and John Poole's admirable comedy of "Paul Pry," will be presented.

Business Notices.—The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement in our columns of the old and well established firm of Emil, Lowenstein & Co., importers, wholesale and retail dealers in furniture, carpets, etc. They are receiving large stocks of new goods, and request their friends and the public to give them a call.

A New Feature in Real Estate Business.—It will be seen by Russell, Ferry & Woodward's new advertisement that the firm intend to introduce a new feature in their real estate business—regular stated auction sales of city and country lands.

Be Guided by what you Know.

There is an old proverb which says, "Experience is the safest guide." To this guide the sick and ailing naturally turn when casting about for the means of relief. They inquire what a medicine has done for others, before they adopt it themselves. Of all the remedies and preventives in use, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters meets the test most triumphantly, and hence its immense popularity and vast sales. The sufferer from indigestion is sure to find some one among his friends who has been cured of that ailment by the famous vegetable stomachic. The victim of fever and ague, liver complaint, constipation, nervous prostration or general debility, has only to make inquiry in the neighborhood where he resides in order to discover what this standard restorative has effected in cases similar to his own. In the published testimony to its merits he will find a volume of proofs of its sanitary properties, which it is impossible for his common sense to resist. He tries it, and the effect it produces on his system adds another to the host of witnesses in its favor. Thus, its reputation, founded on facts not assertions, continually grows and spreads. Charlatans and impostors, some of them mere local tricksters, and others who take a somewhat wider range, attempt to thrust into the hands and down the throats of invalids, their haphazard concoctions, as substitutes for the tonic which for so many years has been a medicinal staple throughout the United States, Spanish America, Canada and the West Indies, but only succeed to a very limited extent. In this reasoning age, the people, having ascertained what is really deserving of their confidence, decline "running after strange gods."

A Household Blessing.

DECISION IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

BY JUDGE DEADY.

A master of a vessel is liable for an unjustifiable assault and battery by one of his officers upon one of the crew, when the same is done by his countenance, consent or authority.

The consent and authority of the master will be presumed when it appears that he knew of the trespass or had reason to know it, and did not interfere to prevent it.

A receipt given by a seaman upon the payment of his wages which contains a clause acknowledging satisfaction of all claims for assault and battery is not binding unless shown to have been the result of a fair and free compromise or settlement for some substantial compensation or benefit to the seaman besides the payment of his wages.

A receipt for all "demands and dues" against a vessel, her master and officers, is not upon its face a receipt for a claim for damages for an assault and battery.

The word "demand" on a receipt ordinarily relates only to claims arising ex contractu and not to those arising ex delicto.

Rules for assessment of damages in cases of beating and wounding a seaman.

U. S. District Court for the District of Oregon.

Hansen vs. Fowle and Turner. In Admiralty. Suit for damages for assault and battery on the high seas.

Christian Hansen, lately a seaman and second mate on the American brig Madawaska, brings this suit against the Respondents, the master and mate of said brig, to recover damages for an alleged beating and wounding by the latter with the consent of the former, about August 8, 1870, during a voyage from Newport, Wales, to Portland, Oregon.

The Libellant and the Respondents have been examined as witnesses, also two of the seamen and the cook and the cabin boy. The arm of the Libellant, which it is alleged was fractured by the beating, was exhibited in court, and the testimony of physicians heard as to the nature of the injury and its probable cause and consequences.

The testimony is too voluminous to be detailed here. It appears, that when the brig was in the south Atlantic, the libellant was at the wheel during the morning watch, steering by the wind, the same being light and varying about five points on either side. Near six o'clock the ship was thrown into stays, but no harm was done by it except the stranding of the main sheet, which was not discovered, however, until after the beating in question. When the ship was hove stays the Master came on deck and Hanson on account of it. Hansen [illegible] that he couldn't help it. The Master [illegible] ately with the rest of the watch brace the yards on the other tack and then went forward with one man to haul down the fore tack. Just at this time—near six o'clock—the libellant's watch at the wheel being about out, the Master ordered O'Neal to take the wheel and the libellant to go forward and help the Mate about the fore tack. As soon as the libellant got forward near the capstan, words past between the Mate and him about the ship being thrown into stays—the mate abusing the libellant and finding fault with him about it and the latter answering, "Mr. Turner, I couldn't help it." Very soon the mate commenced beating the libellant and knocked him down near or on the combing of the fore hatch and then kicked—booted him, aft to the companion way.

The libellant testifies that the mate struck him six times with a capstan bar. That the first three blows he received on his arm in attempting to ward them off from his head and body, and that then he was knocked down and struck on the lower part of the back three other blows with the bar. That then the mate ordered him aft, and as he was stooping along from the effect of blows, on his two feet and one hand, the mate kicked him in the back and sides until he reached the companion way where the master was standing.

The mate denies having struck the libellant with the bar, but admits striking him on his fist and knocking him down, and kicking him with his bare foot, and also striking him with his fist as he passed him as they were both going aft. The mate also admits the libellant was impudent to him and pushed him against the anchor, and that he was provoked to beat him on that account. No one saw the men during the affray on the gangway, but the libellant was heard to cry out, say, "I couldn't help it." There is no doubt but that his arm was broken on that occasion, and the weight of testimony seems to support the story of the libellant. If so, the beating was unprovoked and unjustifiable. It does not however necessarily follow that the mate intended to break libellant's arm, but he beat him unlawfully and, I think, unmercifully, and he must be held responsible for the consequences of his conduct and actions.

The master denies knowing anything about the matter or that he had any knowledge that the libellant was injured while on the vessel. I think the testimony strongly preponderates in favor of the conclusion that the master was cognizant of the beating, and did not interfere to prevent it, but on the contrary suffered and approved it. Notwithstanding the attempt to prove the contrary, I am satisfied that the master was on deck, probably on the poop, at the time. True, on account of the ship's house, he might not have seen the parties at the time libellant was knocked down and had his arm broken, but he must have heard enough of the affray then to have called his attention to it. At least, as the libellant came aft crying with pain, and the mate booting him, he must have seen them. Besides, it is admitted that the master came on deck immediately after the libellant and mate came aft, and that he saw the former crying from the effects of the beating, and that he made no inquiry into the matter nor noticed it otherwise than to put him to work splicing a thimble in the main-sheet, and when he complained that his arm hurt him so he could not work, to tell him "to shut up."

There can be no doubt that the libellant carried his arm in a sling for several weeks, [illegible] as many as six, during which time, [illegible] used his watch, he did not take the wheel on account of the fracture, [illegible] and yet it appears was [illegible] the master and whose arm was allowed to go [illegible] and as best it might.

This subsequent utter indifference and neglect on the part of the master tends to convince me that he was aware of the beating when it occurred and approved it. Indeed it is not improbable that he sent the libellant forward to where the mate was when he did, for the purpose of giving the latter an opportunity of punishing the former for letting the ship come into stays. The testimony of one witness is that he was walking the poop cursing and swearing about the matter, at the time the battery was being committed. According to the libellant's testimony, as soon as the master came on deck he railed out at him, calling him "a Dutch hound of h—ll." So the testimony of others of the crew is to the effect that he was in the habit of telling the mate "to make the men more, and if they didn't to mash their heads," and that on one occasion he beat one of the men himself over the back with a broom-stick, for no particular cause as appears.

The law upon the liability of the master for the trespasses of his officers is laid down by Mr. Justice Story in Thomas vs. Law (2 Sum. 11) as follows:

"The master has the supreme authority on board of his ship; and has, moreover, a sort of parental responsibility and duty devolved upon him, for the due exercise of it. It is his duty to prevent, as far as he may, any undue exercise of authority by his subordinate officers, and any abuses, injuries and trespasses by them. If he is present when any of the subordinate officers inflict chastisement upon the crew, he is bound in duty to interfere, and restrain it, if it is improper in its nature or character, or unjustifiable under the circumstances. If he may interfere, and he does not, he must be deemed to assent to and encourage it; for no officer in his presence has any right to inflict punishment without his assent or direction, unless upon an emergency, which admits of no delay. It is not sufficient for him to excuse himself from this interposition, upon any notions of courtesy, or of upholding the authority of the officers, or of supporting the harmony and discipline of the ship. The law has entrusted him with summary powers, for the good, not of the officers alone, but of the crew also, and indeed for the general good of the maritime service, in which he is engaged. While he should uphold the just discipline of the ship with a steady confidence, he is to take care that the crew is not made the victims of the insolence, the passions, or the caprice of the officers under him. If he will stand by and see the seamen cruelly, brutally and unjustifiably beaten without interference, he ought not to complain that the law forces upon him the conclusion that he approves what is done, and means to encourage it by his license and authority. He becomes thereby the abettor and supporter of the deed, upon the reasonable ground that he who knowingly allows oppression shares the crime. Such, in my opinion, is the dictate of the law on the subject; and it is wholesome as an admonition and a preventive against against the undue resentment and oppression of officers, which so often end in the open mutiny and rebellion of the injured crew."

Upon this branch of the case I think the libellant is entitled to recover against the master as well as the mate. To my mind, it is absurd to suppose that within the limited area of this vessel, carrying a crew of only six men, that the mate could in open daylight and without any substantial cause, severely beat one of the men, fracture his arm and boot him from fore and aft, without the master being aware of it at the time or soon after. If for any reason he did not see the transaction at the moment of its occurrence, and it had not been allowed to take place by his countenance, consent or authority, he would most naturally enquire into the circumstances as soon as the matter came to his knowledge and take some steps to rebuke or punish the offending officer, and to bind up and heal the wounds of the injured seaman. Not having done this the inference is reasonable that he approved of the mate's conduct at the time.

An attempt is made in the pleadings and proof by both respondents to set up a receipt given by the libellant to the master one or two days after the arrival of the vessel at this port, in bar of this suit. It is in these words:

"Received from F. Fowle, the sum $93 96, being the amount in full of all demands and dues against brig Madawaska, her officers, captain and owners.

(Signed) CHRISTIAN HANSEN.

PORTLAND, January 27, 1871."

There is no direct testimony to show that the sum mentioned in this receipt was paid the libellant for his wages only. But the fact is manifest from all the circumstances as well as the testimony of the master himself. It appears that within a day or two after his arrival at this port he sent for the men to pay them off, and that the libellant was the first man in the cabin. "I [the master] asked him [Hansen] if he had made up his account? He said he had not. I told him I had, and read it to him, and asked him if it was right. He said it is. Then I gave him the money, and he signed the receipt." On cross examination he testified further: "I did not suppose there would be any claim for damages. I did not think of anything of the kind at the time."

The general rule is that the word demand in a receipt relates only to claims arising out of contract, and does not include those arising out of tort, such as this. The word damages nor any equivalent of it does not occur in the receipt, and the master did not think of any such a thing when he took it. Upon these facts alone it would not to be held to be a release or at quittance of this claim. But this is not all. This voyage lasted 7 months and 12 days. The only place that the vessel touched on the way was the Falkland Isles, where she remained a few days to ship three men in place of three of the crew lost overboard. It is highly probable that the whole wages for the voyage were due the libellant when he signed this receipt. Dividing the sum received by the time of his voyage, it as a result a little over $13 per month. It is not probable that the wages were less than this sum. Considering these facts, the nature of the subject and the relation of the parties, it is apparent that the receipt was neither given by the libellant or received by the master with any reference to this claim for damages, and to say the least of it, the attempt now made by the respondents to pervert it into a release or acquittance of such claim, does not speak well for either their ingenuity or integrity.

But if this receipt contained the words "damages," or "all claims for damages," the law would not allow the respondents to take advantage of it to defeat this suit, unless it also satisfactorily appeared that after a fair and distinct understanding of the matter, the libellant compromised or settled the claim for or on account of some substantial satisfaction, compensation or benefit made to or to enure to him.

The law very properly looks with distrust and suspicion upon a release or receipt obtained from a seaman at or before the payment of his wages, for injuries inflicted upon him during the voyage. While the wages are unpaid the master and men deal upon such an unequal footing, that no attention will be paid to such release when there is any ground for suspecting that it was unduly or unfairly obtained.

In Whitney vs. Eager, (Crabbe, 424) the Court held that no attention should be paid to a release of the officers of a ship from all claims and damages, given by a seaman to procure the payment of his wages. In Thomas vs. Lane, cited above, there was a receipt signed by the seaman on the back of the shipping articles, in full of all demands for assault and battery and imprisonment. In passing upon it the Court said:—"To such a receipt, given upon the mere payment of wages, and without any distinct compromise, satisfaction or compensation for trespasses, it can hardly be supposed, that any Court would listen as a bar to a suit of this nature. It must, under such circumstances, be treated as a paper obtained by fraud, surprise, or under advantage taken of the party's situation."

The damages claimed in the Libel are $2,000. In estimating the damages to be allowed Libellant regard must be had to the condition in life and circumstances of the parties. (White vs. Eager, supra.) The Respondents [illegible] master and mate of a [illegible] have nothing so far as appears [illegible] earnings. The Libellant [illegible] a native of Denmark and under 30 years of age. On two occasions when [illegible] him by the superintendent of the [illegible] marine office" at Hull, England, in 1863 and 1870, he is marked as an able-bodied seaman, "Very Good" as to character for "Ability, Capacity and Conduct." The evidence shows that the bone of the upper arm was fractured, and that it has knit together but not quite in place. The arm is yet weak, and unfits the Libellant to do an able-bodied seaman's duty, but the physicians think it will be a pretty good arm in the course of a year. No expense or loss of time was incurred by Libellant while on the Brig on account of the fracture. Allowing the Libellant if his arm was not injured to be able to earn $60 a month and find himself, I think it may be safely assumed that during the current year he will not be able, on account of the condition of his arm, to earn more than $30 per month. This will be a loss to him of $360. For the actual breaking of his arm, and the anguish, pain and suffering necessarily resulting from the fracture and the beating, and the subsequent heartless neglect with which Libellant was treated by Respondents, it is not so easy to determine what sum should be allowed. In these respects, what are proper damages can only be estimated in a very general way, and much must depend in each case upon the condition in life and circumstances pecuniary and otherwise of the parties. After careful consideration I have concluded to allow the Libellant on these accounts $500. To these amounts something must be added by way of compensating the Libbelant for the expense which he has incurred in employing counsel to maintain this suit to vindicate his rights. For this I will add $200, making in the aggregate $1,060 which the Libellant is entitled to recover in any lawful money of the United States.
